

What is your flood risk?

Do you have flood insurance?

Is flood insurance required for your property?

Will it be required for your property in the future?

Let us help you find answers to these questions and more at www.MDFloodMaps.com

POSTAGE
REQUIRED

Digital Flood Insurance Rate Maps (DFIRMs) for your county are coming soon. In the meantime, you can find your current flood risk using the effective Flood Insurance Rate Map, as well as your future flood risk by viewing the preliminary DFIRM for your property. If flood insurance is required or recommended for your location, buying it now or revisiting your current policy can be advantageous. Locking in proper flood insurance before new maps take effect can save you money!

To learn more about Maryland's DFIRM program, including information about public meetings to be held in your county, please visit www.MDFloodMaps.com. While you're there, use Maryland's Flood Risk Guide to help you make informed decisions about your flood risk, so you can protect yourself from a devastating financial loss in the event of a flood. Even if you think your area is not flood-prone, it's a good idea to spend a few minutes assessing your flood risk. What you learn may surprise you.

For more information about flood insurance and to locate an agent near you, visit www.FloodSmart.gov.

Now is the time to learn about your flood risk!

Maryland Department of the Environment
1800 Washington Blvd.
Baltimore, MD 21230

FEMA